

THE WASHINGTON POST

Date:22/01/2021

Price: £1.50

WASHINGTON BAGEL BURGLARY

To start, this terrific scene an orange, brown pigeon greedily wanted a bagel of a secret agent who was wearing a black shirt and brown trousers. He wanted to stay anonymous but after while he explained his name was Walter Bucket.

It happened yesterday at midday when all these events were about to take place, it ended up ruining the mission for the secret service.

If you're wondering what happened basically a greedy pigeon wanted a bagel off Walter B but got stuck in a missile shooting suitcase and ruined the mission for the SS (secret service) as a rocket would have exploded.

Washington missile crash

If you're wondering what happened basically a greedy pigeon wanted a bagel off Walter B but got stuck in a missile shooting suitcase and ruined the mission for the SS (secret service) as a rocket would have exploded.

Is it a good idea to feed pigeons in town? "I think we shouldn't feed the pigeons because they lose their ability to scavenge food by themselves. Then most of the food goes to rats and if they lose their ability to scavenge they might starve."