The cheeky pigeon

Yesterday, in the morning, a suspicious object caused chaos in the centre of Washington D.C. It is believed that a secret agent and a pigeon were at the core of an unusual event. But what caused the event to unfold?

At 8:45am, on the roads of Washington D.C, many people witnessed an unexpected rocket that got launched into the sky! According to some scientists it was going to land in Moscow, which is in Russia, just before it had exploded; leaving an ash cloud.

As Secret Agent Beckett was leisurely walking down the street eating his freshly baked bagel, a pesky, hungry pigeon tried to pinch his breakfast causing many accidents including the pigeon getting stuck in the highly computerised briefcase. The bird eagerly pecked at the colourful buttons, setting off a highly powered laser gun amongst unknowing passers-by. Agent Beckett rescued the feathered fiend by coaxing it out with the bagel. However, the bagel accidentally landed on the red button which launched the rocket into the sky.

The devastated streets.

Fortunately, with his handy briefcase, Beckett saved the rocket from its destination.

Becket said “It was the morning and I was just enjoying my fresh and warm bagel, when a light headed pigeon swooped down from the sky and I tried to give him a little bit of it but he wanted more. It caused lots of devastation but I managed to save the day!”

A clean-up crew were quickly on the scene to clear the streets.

Secret Agent Beckett went to work but unfortunately the pigeon died in the accident.
