

What happens to the food we eat?
Why is it important to brush your teeth every day?
L/O: To understand the first stage of the digestive system.	What I think	My teacher thinks
I can remember to:
eat a piece of apple using different types of teeth and discuss how it feels	<input type="radio"/>
create your teeth out of plasticine	<input type="radio"/>
understand the functions of different teeth	<input type="radio"/>

Write a sentence about the different types of teeth.

Incisors are for _____.

Canines are for _____.

Premolars are for _____.

Molars are for _____.

grind, bite, tear, pointed, large and flat, thin and sharp

OR

Match the name to the function.

Canines

These teeth are for biting lumps of food.
They are at the front of the mouth.

Molars

These teeth are the pointy ones.
They can tear and rip food.

Incisors

These are the big teeth at the back of the mouth that grind up the food until it is small enough to digest.