Write a word that meets the criteria (beginning with the appropriate letter of the alphabet) and then write a full sentence including that word to show your understanding, but do not write a definition. What other kinds of words have you used in your sentences? Use dictionaries and thesauruses – be adventurous! I'm also going to state the obvious; your sentence should be properly punctuated, grammatically correct, make sense and be interesting to read.

'A' has been done for you as a very simple example;

- A a common noun. apple I had a lovely apple with my lunch today.
- B a verb.
- C an adjective.
- D an adverb.
- E a sentence opener.
- F a proper noun.
- G including 'ow'.
- H a pronoun.
- I a preposition.
- J a verb (in the past).
- K including a silent one.
- L an adjective.
- M including a double one.
- N ending 'le'.
- O the most unusual word you can find.

- P ending 'shun'.
- Q a fraction.
- R ending 'ate'.
- S a time connective.
- T 'shun' again, but a different spelling.
- U an adjective.
- V an adverb.
- W a verb (present tense).
- X not x-ray!
- Y another verb.
- Z not 'zoo'.
